Acrowire Announces Additional SharePoint Roadshows for the International Legal Technology Association

Charlotte, N.C. (May 5, 2014) – Acrowire, a strategic business and legal technology consulting company, today announced two additional stops on its East Coast roadshow series for the International Legal Technology Association (ILTA). The company will visit Washington, DC, on June 3 and Richmond, Va., on June 4.

The educational roadshows are complimentary for all legal IT professionals who are interested in learning more about SharePoint 2013. Lunch will be included. Registration is available at http://acrowire.com/welcome/ilta/.

Acrowire's Founder and President Ted Theodoropoulos will lead a discussion on new features and functionality for SharePoint 2013 and how they can significantly impact a legal IT department's performance. Items on the agenda include:

- New capabilities in SharePoint 2013 such as enhanced searching capabilities and collaboration as well as new ways to visualize and create workflows
- Top reasons for – and warnings about – moving SharePoint to the cloud
- How to reduce risk and administration time in SharePoint and its applications
- Talents and tools needed to undertake application development for SharePoint
- A demonstration of a successful SharePoint legal app

The roadshow will continue in September and October with additional visits in Atlanta, Philadelphia, New York and Boston.

To reserve your seat at the roadshows, please visit http://acrowire.com/welcome/ilta/.

About the Presenter

As Acrowire's founder and president, Ted Theodoropoulos combines his interest in technology with his passion to improve the business productivity of entrepreneurs and corporations. Theodoropoulos's background in technology began in the early 1980s as he developed applications in BASIC on the first personal computers. As a senior vice president at Bank of America, Theodoropoulos held a number of leadership roles in the areas of corporate audits, consumer risk management and global anti-money laundering initiatives. He integrated Six Sigma methodologies into his technology work, earning DFSS Green and Black Belt certifications. His Green Belt work led to a U.S. patent for which he was recognized with the 2007 Best of Six Sigma Award. Prior to joining Bank of America, Theodoropoulos was a product specialist at Microsoft providing guidance and support on database technologies where he became a Microsoft Certified Professional and a Certified Scrum Master.

He has a Bachelor of Science in mathematics from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill and a master's in business administration from the Belk College of Business at the University of North Carolina at Charlotte.
