Acrowire Hires Solutions Architect Resource for SharePoint Development

Charlotte, N.C. (May 14, 2015) – Acrowire, a strategic business and IT technology consulting company, today announced that it has expanded personnel with the addition of Stephen Garrett as Solutions Architect.

Garrett has nearly 25 years of professional technology experience as a developer, architect and manager. He has worked with organizations across a multitude of industries in both the public and private sectors. Prior experience comes from Lash Group, Harmony Technology, Inc., Microsoft and XPIENT Solutions. During his time at Microsoft, Garrett received an official commendation from the Department of Homeland Security for his outstanding work and service delivery. Core skills include both SharePoint software development and .NET – Garrett is also proficient in SQL Server, Agile methodologies and C#, etc.

As one of Acrowire’s Solutions Architects, he will be responsible for SharePoint consultation and solving complex business problems using the latest technologies. “The addition of Stephen to our team is an exciting one. His strong technical skills and commitment to delivering quality work provides significant value to the client we engage,” states Ted Theodoropoulos, president of Acrowire.
