Envisioning is an exploratory and fundamental phase of your IT project that provides a sound foundation for success. Recent studies show that only 39% of projects are successful with 61% either failing or experiencing challenges. Envisioning requires the appropriate stakeholders be engaged from the very beginning to avoid common failure points, exceeding budgets and exaggerated or stagnant timelines. We collectively discuss existing challenges, identify and prioritize objectives, and gather critical feedback so your budget isn't spent on rework. Acrowire will provide various Envisioning outputs that are unique to your project and will ultimately guide your success so your next IT initiative beats the odds.

Unlike other IT firms, the cost estimate we provide you is backed by a deep knowledge of your infrastructure and requirements, and collective business objectives from all areas of your organization. To execute successfully, you must plan accordingly.
